Summer 2016 has been an interesting period for Civil Aviation twinning as 6 activities were performed by French and Turkish experts. Air navigation deliverables took the lead with experts groups working on Road Map on the certification systems for the new air navigation service, Safety Oversight of changes, as well as ATCO licensing English proficiency and medical fitness.

Rule Making and Training Department experts took part in a workshop covering Development of job descriptions for SHGM staff. This quarter, 2 Turkish missions were sent to France. SAFA Handbook review was conducted in Paris and Toulouse, following French visit in Ankara last April. Turkish delegation has been able to test

Management: involved

Each mission generates a mission report agreed upon by SHGM and member states experts. Mission reports are then presented to relevant heads of departments, notably in charge of follow up actions, including changes to SHT, SHY and instructions: a lot of work lies ahead!
